Statement Regarding Media Reports

On March 8, 2026, Nikkei reported that as a candidate for U.S. investment JDI is considering launching JDI-operated advanced display manufacturing fabs in the United States. The Nikkei report has been followed by widespread reports in other media. In response to these reports, JDI has continued to receive inquiries from investors and shareholders. In the interest of fair disclosure, JDI would thus like to clarify the situation, as follows.

While it is true that JDI is investigating operating and providing technology to U.S.-based advanced display manufacturing fabs, at the current point in time no decision has been made by the relevant parties. Should there be any developments that require disclosure, JDI will promptly disclose the details.
