JDI Announces Support for TCFD

JDI is announcing its support for the Climate-Related Financial Disclosure Task Force (TCFD) and its recommendations, and has begun disclosures related to climate change based on the TCFD framework.

TCFD was established by the Financial Stability Board (FSB) at the request of the Finance Ministers and Central Bank Governors of G20 to study climate-related disclosures and the response of financial institutions to climate change. Recommendations announced by TCFD in 2017 are global initiatives that encourage companies to disclose risks and opportunities related to climate change with respect to their business activities.

JDI recognizes the importance of identifying climate change risks and opportunities, generating robust responses, and disclosing those responses in order to support its sustainable growth. JDI has therefore decided to support TCFD.

JDI also views climate change as a material sustainability issue, and began scenario analysis, impact evaluation, and countermeasure examination in FY23/3 based on TCFD recommendations. The results of these analyses have been disclosed on JDI's website.

By incorporating climate change responses into its strategy and operations, JDI is accelerating its efforts to contribute to a low-carbon, sustainable society.
